Later hours, the thing we have wanted so long, is now a reality. Our thanks to Dean Mary Elrod Ferguson, and the members of AWS who have worked to bring about this change. We are confident that the women of MSU will use the privilege intelligently.

Personal freedom makes for greater attainment. We sincerely believe that as the years go on this liberal trend will remain dominant on this campus. Students living under the revised hours will show through their good conduct that controls of any sort are not necessary. This first step is a sound beginning.

We of the Kaimin have attempted, through gathering facts, presenting commentary, and giving coverage to events relative to the problem, to bring about this change. We are happy for our part in its successful conclusion. The real thanks, however, go to the dean of women and AWS.

Badgley Calls For Prospective Cross-Country Men To Report

Montana Invited to Inland Empire Collegiate, Dual Idaho, Pacific Coast Championship Races; Turnout Will Decide MSU Entry

Director of Athletics Kirk Badgley has given the call for all prospective cross-country racers to contact him at his office in Main Hall next Monday or Tuesday. Training for the boys will begin as soon as the number of MSU men showing interest is known.

Coach Mike Ryan of the University of Idaho has invited Montana to enter men in the "First Annual Inland Empire Intercollegiate Championship Cross Country Race" at Moscow, Ida., Nov. 16 and compete in a dual race with Idaho Nov. 20.

In a letter to Badgley, Coach Ryan stated that the collegiate race will be held annually with each member college sponsoring the race in rotation. Whitman College, Washington State and Idaho have already agreed to enter men, with invitations sent to Gonzaga, Whitworth of Spokane, North Idaho of Lewiston, Ida. and Coeur d'Alene Junior College, Eastern Washington, and Montana.

Such a meet, Coach Ryan says, would get the ball rolling for the Inland Empire schools to have all types of track competition and possibly have a championship track meet in the spring.

Montana has also been invited to the Pacific Coast championship cross country race at Spokane, Thanksgiving Day. If Montana enters these events, the Grizzlies will have already set up a good three-race schedule.

MSU Ski Club Plans Active 1945-46 Season

Organization of Montana's ski club has begun, reports George Savage, MSU enthusiast. Plans have been made for both men's and women's teams.

The ski club is endeavoring to purchase a portable tow or lift in time for this winter's season. The University group will work in conjunction with the Missoula city ski club on many projects, notably the development of the Marshall Bowl ski runs.

Sawmill Gulch will probably be the main drawing card for MSU skiers. Pattee Canyon is sometimes used but that course needs much more development before it can be skied to any great extent.

"It is hoped that a team can be developed at Montana that will be able to compete throughout the northwest," declared Savage after looking over the good prospects now enrolled at MSU. Five men and one alternate constitute a team.

Savage urges anyone, beginner or expert, to contact him immediately to make arrangements for

WAA Schedules Women's Sports

The Women's Athletic Association swung into action this week, scheduling several tournaments for the first part of fall quarter.

Field hockey practice began this week and all the sororities and women's dorms are expected to enter teams in the tourney which starts next week. Four practices are required for those who have not played before. A list of team members should be given to field hockey manager, Anne Fraser, Billings.

The horseshoe pegs have been set up and practice will start this week, according to Betty J. Staves, manager. The tournament will start in the near future.

A double-elimination tournament in badminton will start next week, says Dorothy E. Grant, Miles City, badminton manager.

Lt. Robert B. Emrick '42 has received the Bronze Star for heroic achievement in action against the Germans on April 26, 1945.

Ski Club activity this winter.

Officers of the group for the 1945-46 season were elected at the organizational meeting last night at the Student Union building but have not yet been announced.

This Is It---1945 Grizzly D-Day

HUDDLE STEAM

BY DON WESTON

Johnny Campbell, sports editor of the Great Falls Tribune, has advised Montana to quit playing above its head and forget about the Pacific Conference. As an alternative he suggests the Grizzlies line up in the Big Seven Rocky Mountain Conference.

For many years Montana has pinned all of its athletic hopes on the Pacific Coast Conference. We are now an official member of that conference with an equal vote with each of the other nine schools. If we decide to switch horses at this time we could wind up in no conference with even less chance of national recognition.

The main disadvantage for Montana has been that we could have few to no home conference games because Missoula could not provide the gate receipts that Seattle, San Francisco or Los Angeles can. But if we could enter the Rocky Mountain Conference, Denver and Salt Lake City would put up the same obstacles.

As for actual winning or losing, there is no reason in the world why 11 men from Montana can't beat or play equal to 11 men from any other school, anyplace, even California. Montana has gone beyond playing teams like Gonzaga, Montana State and Brigham Young; all of whom we have beaten consistently in recent years.

Where We Stand

Last week I asked, "Just where do we stand in the Pacific Conference?" After an interview with one of the Montana delegates to the conference meetings, Kirk Badgley, I know.

Things are definitely better than I had once feared they were. Next fall, unless this December meeting changes things, Montana is slated for a minimum of five Conference games with an equal chance at the championship and Rose Bowl invitation. Also next fall Missoula is in line for some very good games on Dornblaser field. Idaho and Utah State are already sure dates. The Montana State game at Butte will also be revived.

Home Schedule

The reason the Grizzlies haven't a better home schedule this fall is simple. It was not known that the University would field a squad until most schools had already filled their schedules. So, it was difficult to find opposition. And, when the Bobcats from Bozeman dropped grid plans for '45 that cancelled another home game. Conference games were impossible this fall because of the late Grizzly start.

Crystal Gazing

Here's a little crystal gazing, results not guaranteed: In Montana high school: Anaconda squeezing out Butte 14 to 6; Missoula rolling over Great Falls 28 to 0.

On the Coast: Idaho over Farragut 12 to 7; California taking UCLA 7 to 6; Washington State humbling Washington 13 to 0; USC trampling San Diego Navy 26 to 6; Oregon State upsetting Oregon U 6 to 0, and Montana beating Utah State 13 to 7.

Green Montana Tackles Experienced Utah State At Logan Tomorrow

Lack of Reserves to Hamper Dahlberg Eleven; Aggie Squad Has Ten Returning Lettermen, 45-0 Marine Base Victory to Credit

All the chips are down tomorrow afternoon at Logan. The tough Utah State game is at hand to discover what kind of a team Montana is putting on the gridiron this fall. A green Montana squad is up against an eleven with 10 returning lettermen from their 1944 team and studded with beefy returning war veterans.

Coach Jiggs Dahlberg and his 30-man squad headed south via a special bus yesterday at 1:00 p.m. They spent last night at Dillon and will roll into Logan some time late this afternoon. The game will start at 2:30 Saturday afternoon.

In the past Montana has played 11 games with the Aggies, winning four of them, dropping seven. The last one was in Missoula in 1933, which the Grizzlies won.

Utah Appears Strong

This will be the first Grizzly football game since 1942 when the sport was dropped because of the war. In 1944 Utah State fielded a squad that played a hard schedule with better-than-fair results. The Aggies have played one game this year, slaughtering the Pocatello, Idaho Marine Base 45 to-0.

In their Marine Base game, which Coach Dahlberg scouted, the Idaho outfit looked exceptionally well. They had three separate teams for use in the fray and scored twice in each of the first two quarters, three times in the third stanza, while holding the Leathernecks scoreless throughout. The Aggies appear to have an exceptional back in Ernie Groll who drove to four tallies in their first battle.

Dick Romney is in his twenty-fifth year as coach at Utah State College, and always turned out a team that the schools of the Rocky Mountain Conference have had to reckon with.

Lineup

Montana's starting lineup will be:
Fullback ..... William Preuninger
Right Half ..... Everett Smith
Quarterback ..... Harry Thompson
Center ..... George Lewis
Right Guard ..... Paul Williamson
Right End ..... Clark Dayton

Other Grizzlies making the trip are Garfield Thorsrud, William Shepard, Ellis Nordwick, Don Gall, Gene Fleming, Bob Rehfeld, Don George, Al Cramer, Wally Stephens, Jack Donavan, Frank Kalsih, Max Sugg, John Hydes, Robert Cook, and Gerald Diettert. Junior managers John Fields and Gene Kramer are also making the trip.

Bisons to Play Spartans Here

Screaming for revenge after five years of continuous defeats, Great Falls high school tackles the undefeated Missoula Spartans at Dornblaser Stadium tonight.

The Bisons are coming to this game with the high flying Spartans in an effort to redeem themselves for losses to Butte and Anaconda in their last two tries.

University students may purchase tickets at a special rate at the Student Union Building before 5 o'clock today.

Grizzlies Meet Rivals At Vandal Homecoming Next Week in Moscow

Montana will be the homecoming guest of Coach Babe Brown's Idaho Vandals in Moscow, Oct. 20, the first grid meeting between these two traditional rivals since 1942.

The Vandals play Farragut, Montana's opponent Oct. 27 and Nov. 22, tomorrow, after having lost their first game to Washington State 43-to-12, and their second to Oregon 33-to-0.

On the basis of their early games, Idaho appears to have a fair passing attack, with several good punters. The Vandals use a single wingback offense and have a line averaging 195 pounds and a 170-pound backfield.

The Grizzlies find themselves in a position similar to Idaho's with few reserves, and a squad composed mostly of frosh. Montana's average turnout is 35, Idaho's 45.

Grizzly fans will remember the 1937 season when the Vandals blasted MSU's hopes for an undefeated, untied season by edging over a 6-to-0 win in the snow-laden Vandal stadium in Moscow. In the last, 1942, game Idaho won at Missoula 21-to-0.

1945-46 Kaimin Policy

In the May 1, 1945, issue, we printed the following as our editorial policy. For the benefit of those students who were not here at that time, we reprint it.

In taking over the editorship of your newspaper I wish to announce the policy by which I intend to administer it. The following then, is to be the editorial policy of the Kaimin as long as I am its editor:

1. I shall make the Kaimin the watchdog of the student body. ASMSU officers, class officers, committee chairmen, and heads of various clubs will be called to task if they fail to perform the duties of their office. I shall not hesitate to demand impeachment of any officeholder who proves himself unfit.

2. The pages of the Kaimin shall be open to all factions. Any group with a feasible idea for general university betterment will be given space in this paper. There will be no bias in news reporting.

2. No letters to the editor will be printed unless the author of the letter signs his or her name in full and permits the use of his or her name when the letter is printed.

4. I encourage suggestions from readers as to how the paper may be improved. I shall welcome constructive criticism.

5. During my year as editor I will attempt to see that the following changes and reforms are instituted:

1. Higher wages for student employees of the university.
2. Greater student participation in convocations.
3. More liberty for women students. . . (Later hours for women students carried through the AWS board on Oct. 11, 1945.)
4. The promotion of Montana State University outside the state of Montana.
5. The erection, on the campus, of a university chapel.
6. Better student government.

I solicit the aid of students interested in the furtherance of any of the foregoing points.

In the coming year the Kaimin shall regain its natural place as the leader in, and moulder of, student opinion. Watch the Kaimin—it is on the march.

ROBERT C. BLAIR, Editor.

MSU Lawyers Reorganize

With the reorganization of the Law School association at MSU the lawyers elected Lloyd Evans, Los Angeles, Calif., chairman for the coming year, and O. Louise Replogle as secretary-treasurer, at their first meeting, on Friday, Oct. 5.

The Law School honor system was explained and discussed and a short talk on "Policies and Traditions of the Law School" was given by Dean of Law, Charles W. Leaphart.

An honor committee was elected and consists of Charles Redpath, Paul Hoffman and Don Smith, all of the Law School.

The school is once more functioning as in pre-war days, with lawyers lounging on the steps and whistling at all the coeds.

Flight Officer John R. Honeychurch, ex-'45, was awarded the Air Medal for the part he played while the squadron was engaged in flying vital supplies to Allied forces isolated behind enemy lines, the supplying of Marshal Tito's Partisan forces in Yugoslavia and the evacuation of Partisan wounded to hospitals in Italy.

Mountaineer Staff Elects Rush, Fifer, Nelson Officers

Tommie-lou Rush, Missoula, was elected business manager of the Mountaineer, campus literary magazine, for the coming year at a meeting Wednesday. Mary Ellen Fifer, Shelby, was elected circulation manager and Lois Pat Nelson, Missoula, publicity manager.

Positions filled by these officers were left empty this year when the former officers, Curtis Stadstad, Flora Sagen and Helen Lund failed to return to school.

Editor, Agnes Regan, Helena, issued a call for material, short stories, articles and poetry, for the autumn issue. Contributions will be accepted from students in any class and any school or department.

At the organizational meeting Wednesday plans were made for the Mountaineer policy for this year. The magazine will be printed again, as it was for the first time last year, if funds and printing facilities are available.

MSU Coeds Given Later Hours

University women have received the privilege of later week-end hours. At a meeting of the Associated Women Students board late Thursday afternoon representatives voted in favor of 1 o'clock privileges for all women students on Friday and Saturday nights, and 11 o'clock privileges for all sophomore, junior and senior women on Sunday.

Representatives from the houses, residence halls and honorary organizations were at the meeting called in the Student Union. Mary Elrod Ferguson, Dean of Women, brought the problem before the board. Other matters discussed were rules regarding membership of the board, senior women's privileges, and attendance at freshman dormitory meetings on Monday nights.

"At an Alpha Lambda Delta convention this summer," Mrs. Ferguson said, "I came in contact with deans of women from colleges all over the country. Hours in the schools they represent are approximately the same as at Montana State University. It seems, however, that the feeling of the women here has been for an extension of the present hours. If that is what they want I am willing to give my approval, pending the decision of the board."

Lois Sanders, Troy, favored the suggestion. "These hours I think," she explained, "will cut down the constant 12:30 Saturday night rush. I am also in favor of the Sunday night hours being extended in order to give the women a better chance to see the Sunday night show."

Mary Ellen Fifer, Polson, voiced her approval of the suggestion. "The Sunday night show is an attraction to all women, and they aren't able to see the whole thing by 10:30."

A discussion by the members regarding school night hours followed. Freshmen, the board decided, should maintain the present 10:30 hour on Sunday night, because of the next day being a school day. At a later date they may be given the privilege, but that will be after they have made their grades.

Hours of senior women was also brought up. Mrs. Ferguson suggested that their two nights for 11:30 hours be Wednesday and Sunday night. Pros and cons of the problem were brought forth, the decision being that their privileges remain unchanged that they may choose which two nights of the week they shall take late privileges.

Attendance at dormitory meetings was stressed by Mrs. Ferguson. "These meetings are held for the girls so as to make group living more compatible. It is for their own good, so they should attend," she said. "Meetings will be held in the dorms until 7:30 on Monday evenings."

"Another matter," Mrs. Ferguson continued, "is that of inviting residence hall directors to your social functions. Please bring this before your members at the next meeting."

Then Dorothy Mather, Two Dot, AWS president, brought the meeting to a close.

Law Grad Chosen Assistant Dean Of NYU School

Russell D. Niles, formerly of Livingston, and a graduate of the MSU School of Law in 1925, has been appointed to the post of assistant dean of the School of Law at New York University, the executive office of the eastern institution announced recently.

The new assistant dean, who succeeds the late Frederick J. deSloovere in the office, received both his A.B. and LL.B. degrees from MSU. He was admitted to the Montana bar upon being graduated and since has become a member of the New York bar.

He has been director of student activities, a member of the NYU law school executive committee and director of admissions at that school. For the past three years, he has been associated with the firm of Winthrop, Stimson, Putnam and Roberts in New York.

Professor Niles is a brother of Ken and Wendell Niles, network radio announcers, who also attended the university.

While here at the university, the Niles brothers all were members of Phi Delta Theta fraternity. Russell was a Masquer, a Phi Delta Phi (law) and an active participant in debate.

Wendell played in a campus dance orchestra known as the "Montanans." Ken was president of the freshman class.

The State Post-War Planning and Construction Commission received the above statement from university officials when it inspected the MSU campus Oct. 3. The commission is considering needs for repair and new building as part of its statewide study to plan for appropriation of four and a half million dollars available for construction of Montana institutions.

Just where some of those state institutions stand is revealed by figures published in 1942. Montana spends less on higher education in relation to her population than any of the other northwest states, including Idaho, Washington, Oregon, North Dakota, and Wyoming. Or to look at it another way, Montana spends less per capita on students enrolled in her institutions of higher education than any of the aforementioned states.

Yet, the Treasure State has wealth to support its colleges and universities. The same figures show that only Wyoming has greater economic ability in relation to educational facilities.

A Good Deal

Wednesday's coffee hour was a very pleasant affair. We would like to see the thing continued. We thought it was a good thing last year and we are behind it just as wholeheartedly this year. Mike McCool and those who help her have our thanks.

A Thing Set Apart

There is a notice in this paper today announcing the meeting of all veterans in the Bitterroot Room. We suppose that a meeting of this sort is the proper thing for a group of men who have so much in common to be doing. Our skepticism arises from our desire to see the veteran absorbed into the student body as an ordinary student, not as a thing set apart. We believe that the majority of veterans are of the same mind although we have not questioned enough of them to be sure on this point. An organization of veterans we fear might tend to set them off from the student body.

Looking at the question from the other side, there are many good things that may come from such an organization. If the group can become strong enough it might well become a pressure group which could bring about improvements here at MSU, such as low-cost housing units for married students.

The organization might be used effectively for helping veterans who will come back to school in the next few years. It could be of great aid to those here now.

The final decision will have to wait, of course, until after the vets have organized, announced their program and carried it out. We wish them every success. Theirs is not an easy task.

The Trib Says—

From the Great Falls Tribune, Tuesday, Oct. 9

University Executive Head

The legislature last winter instructed the state board of education to appoint an executive head for the Montana university system. His job, under policies of the state board, would be to coordinate the activities of the six units comprising the system, which is something that badly needs to be done. In effect he would be a chancellor, although the law designates him as executive head.

Seven months have passed and there still is no executive head for the university system as ordered by the legislature. We wonder when there is going to be one and when the board of education will carry out the legislative mandate. All that is officially known or on the record is that the board has had the matter under consideration at its last three meetings.

If the state board of education were more inclined to take the people of Montana into its confidence, the reasons why no executive head for the university has been obtained could be more readily explained from the viewpoint of the board. All that the board's minutes conclusively show is that the job has not been filled. The Tribune does not wish to go beyond the record in discussing the transaction so far as the board is concerned.

We are willing to surmise, however, that one difficulty is in finding any qualified man who will take the job. The board cannot guarantee tenure in office beyond the next legislative session. That is one thing. Another thing is that the board does not have the constitutional and statutory powers to administer the university system efficiently as a coordinated institution, which means that the administrator or executive head could not function as effectively as the situation demands. The responsibility for correcting this situation is primarily a legislative one.

But meanwhile no executive head of the university system has been appointed. Perhaps the state board of education should explain why.

Beating the Brush with Brutsch

This business of education has implications far beyond that of merely equipping us for the commercial world or for home life. Education is a life-long process, only the years we may spend in school place an accent upon book learning.

Of the relative importance of a career, no one can contest. The point is, however, that we are in search of a better mode of life through education. It can not be a purely selfish desire as the ideal life in a society must not be built for a few, but for the majority. As individuals we fight for ourselves, but in life, no matter what business we choose, we deal with others and must know how fairly and successfully.

Sometimes we forget that situations here, to the "outside" world seemingly unimportant, are preparations for obligations which we will meet in a similar fashion later in life. Although we may not realize it now, we are reacting as we will in the future. If we sit back, let others take the wheel, complain about how the job is done and we, ourselves, do nothing, what can be accomplished in this world of our creation?

With the atomic age comes power and the stupendous fact that this is a world of our making or breaking. It is a frightening aspect and presents a future in which we all have a definite part to play.

How many times has the statement of our duty or importance of this generation been shouted in our weary ears? Regardless of how tired we may be of the words, the meaning has not yet pierced beyond the outer shell of complacency. Evidence for this statement need not be set down in black and white. All you have to do is look around you, in the coke store, in classes, in church, almost anywhere to see the depressing lack of initiative, the inertia, the reticence of our natures. We are all guilty.

Intelligent living. What do these two words mean to us? Understanding ourselves, our associates, our politics, our economics, our society as a whole, and participating in whatever field or fields in which we have something of value to give. Basically, college should emphasize this purpose in life.

Through the general and specialized courses a terrific challenge is presented to all of us. True, we may not like some classes, we can see no earthly use for taking them, yet sometime, somewhere each will have an application, now unforeseen. We are all of us shooting toward a far-off goal; why measure a class by its immediate worth alone?

In as cloistered an atmosphere as we live in here, we sometimes lose perspective and become dissatisfied with our higher education. But the desirable conditions in which we live are really for our benefit. We should appreciate the remarkable medium for learning, the opportunities opened for us, the chance to soak up as much as is humanly possible, for the time is short. This cannot go on forever and its exceptional advantages should be utilized and enjoyed to the fullest.

We should not only be better equipped to attain and hold a job, but become rid of prejudices, able to understand each other, and this world of ours. Socially and educationally, we are lucky people to be here. While we are here, we should obtain a sensible and workable philosophy of life. This is not an education for life, but life itself.

Letters to the editor...

Dear Editor:

Why doesn't Montana State University put into effect for the fall, winter and spring quarters, the hours which prevailed during the summer quarter? Namely, the fact that the girls living in dorms could be out until midnight the first five nights of the week. On Friday and Saturday night the girls didn't have to be in until 1:15 of the following morning. We hope that the Kaimin will make possible the securing of summer quarter hours during the entire academic year, for mighty is the power of the press. Amen.

Going Shopping

The businessmen who buy advertising space in this paper are sincerely appreciative of student patronage. It seems logical to us that you, as a buyer, will receive more complete and satisfactory service from a place of business that earnestly desires your trade than from one which is indifferent to it.

We suggest that new students take a Kaimin along with them when they go downtown on a buying spree. Consult it to find out where to buy the various things you want. We believe it will save you time, assure you of better service, and prevent you from going to some place which obviously doesn't want your business anyway.

Veteran's Voice

BY JOHN F. BRUNETT

News and views of the soldier-turned-student is the very stuff of Veteran's Voice. It is the wish of this column to act as liaison between them and campus, to promote mutual understanding, and to allay any possibility of discord.

Ideas to this end, both written and oral, are actively solicited.

Since the increase of veterans in the student body is apparent at a glance, and since a much greater increase can be logically expected as demobilization progresses, questions are arising. A question most universal is, "How will these men, older, more mature than the average student of the past, react to the Greek fraternity system?"

Here are some facts to help answer it. According to the president's office, there were 154 veterans attending Montana State University at the beginning of this week. Of these 154, the veterans' education office informs us that 122 are new to the university. From total pledges reported in the Kaimin, it is found that only 22 veterans had pledged a fraternity up to that time.

Bob Tabaracci, well known president of Interfraternity Council, says that, in his opinion, all veterans who meet the qualifications will be eventually absorbed into the fraternities. He is, of course, assuming that they want to be absorbed.

The typical view of the non-Greek veteran is represented by that of David J. Thatcher '49, majoring in forestry. Thatcher is a former turret gunner from Aksarokee, who holds the Silver Star, the Distinguished Flying Cross, and the Chinese Order of the Celestial Cloud. While participating in General Doolittle's famous raid on Tokyo, he was assigned to the crew of the "Ruptured Duck," which may be more easily identified to those who saw the moving picture, "Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo," as the plane in which Van Johnson rode.

When the tall, blond, and reserved Thatcher was asked if he intended to pledge a fraternity, he said that he had a deep-seated dislike and distrust of joining things of which he knew nothing about.

The attitude, "I'll look around first," is the view of the majority in this early stage of the game.

When You Were Young and Gay THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

A Jolly Spread

The Alpha Nu chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta gave a spread in their suite last evening. The supper was given in honor of their new members.

Rooters' Caps?

How about a rooter's cap? Some pertinent suggestions have been made lately regarding this, and some definite plan may be expected soon. It seems to be the common idea that novel and distinctive headgear which shall be worn by University students only, will be an excellent thing. It will give life and color to the football games, it will mark varsity rooters and will permit marshalling and concerted cheering.

The style of headgear which has met with the greatest popularity to date, is a turkish fez of maroon felt with a gold "M" on the front.

All but freshmen will be entitled to these hats according to the present plan; all will be required to wear them at football games and other contests.

Miss Buckhous Entertains

Miss Buckhous and Mrs. G. Fox entertained several teachers at a mum-mum party last week. The game caused a merry time and everyone enjoyed themselves thoroughly.

Foresters Announce Revival of Traditional Ball

Paul Bunyan's Boys Have Big Plans For Famed Brawl; Event Has Long and Colorful History; First Ball Held in 1914.

One of the year's biggest events will be revived again winter quarter when the School of Forestry sponsors the traditional Foresters' Ball sometime next February.

The year 1914 marked the beginning of these annual hoe-downs. The idea originated when local rangers from the forest service enrolled for winter quarter and came to classes, smoking and chewing, garbed in their field clothes. These pioneer foresters decided then to sponsor a new and different type of university dance. Everyone was to come attired in clothes appropriate in a logging camp in the old west.

According to a 1914 copy of The Kaimin "This ball was a knock-out from the first!" In a letter written in 1933 by James H. Bonner, one of the first three professors in the forestry school, he said, "I think Paul Bischoff is the only one that remembers that big night. He had a big 'gat' but couldn't get any blank shells so he shot real cartridges. The roof of the men's gym leaked in many places the first night it rained, but no one thought to ask Paul about it."

The ball, discontinued during the war years, is usually held in the men's gym. The room is converted into a pine forest by students who chop and haul trees for days before the big affair.

A bar is erected in one corner, and Paul Bunyan, patron saint of forestry students, is duly honored. His axe and cradle are important items in the decoration.

In 1940 Governor Roy Ayers was the guest of honor, and over 400 tickets were sold. All profits go into a Forestry Club loan fund, which that year totaled $4,700. This was the largest loan fund of any forestry club in the United States, according to MSU's foresters.

Too Few Students At Coffee Hour

The faculty was well represented at the first Coffee Hour Wednesday, but the showing of students was relatively small in view of this year's increased enrollment.

Every Wednesday in the Student Union Lounge from 4:30 to 5:30 o'clock these coffee hours are held so that students and faculty may meet and talk informally.

Will It Ring Tomorrow?

Campus ears will be tuned tomorrow night for the traditional tolling of the Victory bell in Main Hall tower to proclaim a happy result for Montana's first game of the season against Utah State at Logan, Utah.

Victory has been announced to the university for many years by the ringing of the bell by members of the Freshman class, who traditionally rush to Main Hall and spell each other to keep the campus resounding with the chime far into the night.

Records vary among several classes who have greeted the students in the morning with the continuous tolling by weary freshmen.

Three Hundred University Women Attend Fall Picnic

About 300 university women attended the Women's Athletic Association Fall Rally at Greenough Park last night. The picnic was held to honor freshmen women.

Wanda Mourar, Missoula, gave a humorous monologue. Managers of the fall sports were introduced by President Jo Anne Blair, Missoula. They gave short talks telling when sports would begin and how many hours were required to receive a participation credit.

The entire group was led in school songs and cheers by the cheerleaders.
